

THE FEMINIST RESEARCH INSTITUTE &
THE WOMEN'S RESOURCE AND
RESEARCH CENTER PRESENTS

FEMINIST DIALOGUE SERIES

CLARE CANNON

Assistant Professor of Human Ecology

UNPACKING SUSTAINABILITY: WORLD SYSTEM POSITION, THE WASHINGTON CONSENSUS, AND OVERSHOOT

Current global population makes the greatest demands on nature ever before due to climate change, rapid growth, and the need for fossil fuels—the energy source of choice for our global system of transportation and production of goods. This demand calls into question whether the current global system is sustainable. What, if any, ameliorating effect may gender have on such political economic systems that create overshoot.

03.07.2018

GARRISON ROOM, MEMORIAL UNION
2:00 - 3:00 PM