

March
2023*Instructors

Sarah McCullough, Ph.D.

Date & TimeFriday, March 3rd
12:00 p.m. – 1:00 p.m.Register Here:*[https://bit.ly/FRIANTR
AC021723](https://bit.ly/FRIANTRAC021723)*Location

Zoom

Target Audience:UC Davis Health Faculty and Staff

How to Create an Anti-Racist Lab

Creating a lab environment that is inclusive of all members required thought and effort. This training provides guidance in how to create an anti-racist lab through awareness, discussion, transparency, advocacy, and new practices. Participants will learn new leadership skills necessary to create deep equity in their lab. These leadership skills can help a PI's lab members to have increased feelings of belonging, a deeper commitment to academic medicine and a greater sense of self efficacy. Creating a lab culture where all members feel fully accepted can also bring new insights and improve research innovations and outcomes.

After this session participants will possess the ability to:

- Understand the benefits of an anti-racist lab
- Comprehend the components of an anti-racist lab
- Analyze what components they have and what they need to develop in their lab practices
- Identify "next steps" or actions they can take to make their lab culture more inclusive
- Find resources to expand their knowledge of how to create an anti-racist lab

For questions regarding registration or the training please contact
Mayra Covarrubias at:

hsucdhsfacultydevelopment@ucdavis.edu

Please Note:

This session will be hosted via Zoom

Links will be sent to all registrants before the session